The Wind in the Willows

by Kenneth Grahame

Mole lives in the forest and keeps to himself most of the time. He doesn't get out very often, but one day he decides to take a break from his spring cleaning and venture out. He ends up running into Rat and Toad. Mole, Rat, and Toad become friends and talk about venturing out to see the world and have adventures. Rat is not very thrilled to go but, seeing how much his friends really want to take the journey, goes along to please them. What adventures lie outside of their small town?
